

UNWELL LEARNER PROCEDURE

If a learner becomes unwell during the course of the school day:

- The assistant teacher escorts the child to the Isolation area, sanitises her hands, check the child's temperature, sanitise her hands again and the principal calls the parents. The principal will wait with the child .
- In the case of a learner who becomes ill during the course of the day, or goes for a COVID test, parents must keep the child at home, until the results are received and it is negative.
- Isolation may only become necessary for close contacts, if COVID-19 is confirmed by a positive test.
- Decisions in this regard will depend on guidance from the authorities.
- Close-contact means being closer than the designated physical distancing from the person for 15 minutes ,where one or both parties did not have a mask, and/or there was physical contact of shared spaces/resources/equipment/other.
- Learner will remain in isolation until the parents fetch the child. If need be, a staff member will roam the area ,to observe/supervise the child.
- Record will be kept of the child's temperature and observations, while waiting for the parents.
- Under no circumstances will the child go back into the class.
- If the child needs the bathroom, the teacher on duty or principal will accompany the child, avoiding all contact with anyone and sanitising every area the child was in or touched or used.
